Sayreville Library is a vital town meeting place where the community can gather, explore new worlds, and share ideas and values.

2011 was a very successful year at the library. We welcomed many new members and strived to provide a wide range of assistance to jobseekers. We made significant improvements in collections, programming, and the library facilities. Policies and procedures were reviewed and revised to improve customer service and raise employee productivity. The library was visited 239,897 times, on average 850 visits on regular weekdays and over 1000 visitors on summer weekdays.

Programs for Everyone!

Adult Programming

In response to patron interest, adult programming was increased to 226 programs versus 166 the previous year. All programs are free for cardholders in good standing.

- We continued to place major emphasis on assisting jobseekers with a quarterly series of workshops and resume assistance.
- Computer classes continued to be very popular.
- Several e-reader workshops filled up quickly and the evaluations from attendees were excellent.
- In partnership with Literacy Programs of NJ, 66 English conversation groups and one-on-one tutoring sessions were offered at the library.

As always, we sought ways to enrich lives and minds through educational speakers and experiences including:

- Health and fitness
- Personal finance
- Film matinees
- Local History
- Book discussion groups
- Home organization
- Citizen workshops

The summer reading club for adults was very successful. Many patrons whom we hadn’t seen during the school year, visited us often during the summer to catch up on their reading, listening and viewing. They welcomed the opportunity to meet their neighbors and to share book reviews.

Children and Teen Programming

Our children’s department offered a great selection of programs for children, ‘tweens, and teens. Parents agree that their children benefit greatly from positive, fun experiences at the Library. Programs were offered on weekdays and weekends at various times of day. All formats of storytelling, craft and story, and yummy stories were very popular and incorporated early childhood literacy activities. Most programs involving trainers or entertainers were nearly filled to capacity. The children especially loved reading to therapy dogs, “Grossology” where they create unsavory food, and “Artsy Smartsy” creating artwork in the style of a different artist each time. Programs for teens included gaming, book discussion groups, zombie crafts, and henna art. In partnership with the Friends of the Library, we visited the Wilson and Arleth elementary schools to promote summer reading and to present library cards to hundreds of students.

The annual Summer Reading Club encourages hundreds of Sayreville’s children to read during the summer vacation. The Friends of the Library co-sponsored a big kickoff party at Burke’s Park. Studies show that summer reading boosts reading levels in the fall, since there is no break in reading practice. For the first time, middle school and high school readers could also borrow e-books of many titles on the list.

The annual Teen Volunteer Program offers volunteer opportunities to children grades 7-12. The children's department manages registration, sets up scheduling, tracks attendance, and provides completion certificates. They train the teens to perform a variety of tasks and to assist patrons looking for materials in the children's room.

State of the Library

The library building and grounds are maintained and necessary repairs are completed by the Borough of Sayreville. Some systems and equipment, such as HVAC, are maintained by commercial services and paid from library operating budget funds. Routine maintenance is performed by a designated Borough employee and is paid from the library budget.

The library underwent several changes to improve ease of use. We were awarded a “S.W.A.T.” grant from the State Library for design assistance to identify affordable or no-cost improvements. We were able to use many of their ideas:

- Four standardized announcement boards were installed for library, community, and regional event information.
- Media shelving was adjusted for easier access.
- We installed slatwall end panels over existing end panels to accommodate interesting displays.
- We inserted laminate panels to separate the new materials from the adult fiction collection, and added acrylic display holders.
- “Velvet ropes” show patrons where to wait for circulation service and keeps them at a discrete distance from the service desk.
- Two Express Internet computers are available for unreserved, 15 minute sessions for email and printing.
- Unattractive steel shelving at the reference desk was replaced by re-using wood shelves.

2012 facilities projects

Quiet Room

A design team comprising the Director, trustees, and library staff developed a plan for renovating the large room previously known as the reference room. As in most libraries, we are finding that a much smaller print reference collection is needed. On the other hand, there is increased demand for quiet study spaces and places to connect laptops and tablets. Therefore, this room will be transformed into a fully wired quiet room.

Direct Install

Under a grant from the Board of Public Utilities, all original ceiling light fixtures will be replaced with energy-efficient fluorescent lamps and sensors will be installed in all nonpublic areas.

The present condition of the building is satisfactory; but its original furnishings are in need of replacement or additional maintenance:
- One of rooftop HVAC unit has been repaired and patched repeatedly and should be replaced.

- The lobby has outlived its usefulness. It should be renovated to alleviate crowding at the circulation desk and to accommodate traffic patterns for patrons entering the building.

- The walls throughout the building are dirty and wallpaper adhesive stains can be seen in several areas. The wallpaper should be removed and the walls either repapered or painted.

- The carpeting is worn and discolored and should be replaced in all areas of the library except the children’s room.

- The circulation desk and the circulation workspace should be renovated to meet current needs for additional checkout terminals and more processing space.

- The basement should be remodeled to meet current needs for storage and temporary workspaces. The staff break room should be renovated.

- Window panes should be replaced with energy efficient UV glass to eliminate drafts and glare.

Long range Assessment

The current facility was built in 1968 and additions were done in 1979. The parking lot was expanded in 2005. There is currently not enough space to house library collections, increase staff size, or enable additional classes, programs and meetings.

Library Funding

The library is funded by municipal aid, state aid, and receipts from fines and fees. Municipal aid is set by statute at 1/3 of a mil (33 cents per $1000) of the total equalized valuation of the municipality. This formula adjusts automatically in response to fluctuations in property values. Thus, state aid increased in 2009, decreased in 2010 and decreased again in 2011. State aid decreased by 50% in 2010 and is now 1% of library funding.
